Key Challenges:

- To renovate the Montchanin Grille to include a sit-down cafeteria-style service area and outside patio dining.
- To renovate the Men's Lounge and create a new Member's Lounge.

What began as a concrete patio addition at the DuPont Country Club in Wilmington, culminated into a complete renovation of the kitchen and dining room areas. The entire kitchen was gutted and rebuilt for increased efficiency. The Montchanin Grille was renovated to include a sit-down, cafeteria-style service area and outside patio dining. The Men's Lounge was remodeled and a new Member's Lounge was created featuring a gas fireplace, televisions, hardwood floors and more. Within the main dining area - the DuPont Café - the exterior wall was removed and replaced with windows providing patrons extensive views of the golf course. The new windows were incorporated with the reinstallation of the building's original limestone façade. The room features a dance floor and partitions making it suitable for functions. In addition, new roofing was installed on the main dining area along with a new HVAC system.
